ABSTRACT

A total of 2,782 nonreturning occupational and transfer students responded to a series of surveys conducted by 13 Texas community colleges during fall 1977 as part of the Tex-SIS (Student Information System) Follow-up System. Information on college majors, educational goals, reasons for not re-enrolling, satisfaction with college experience, instructional and student services ratings, employment or educational status, relevancy of college courses, and credit hours transferred was collected. Of respondents, 59% had been occupational/technical majors and 24% had been university transfer/academic majors; 24% fully and 56% partially completed their goals. Among occupational students, the most important reasons for not re-enrolling were conflicting job hours (18%), completion of needed courses (15%), and financial problems (11%). Among transfer students, 33% transferred to another college, 20% completed needed courses, and 7% cited conflicting job hours as their reason for not re-enrolling. For all majors, 83% were satisfied or very satisfied with their educational experience. Highlights of the study are graphically presented in the report and summarized data are provided in a manner to facilitate the comparison of information from individual colleges with statewide results. Blank forms are provided and the survey instrument is included. (AYC)

Preface

This monograph is part of a series of publications designed to disseminate data produced by the Texas Student Follow-up Information System (Tex-SIS). The system, designed by Tarrant County Junior College, Fort Worth, Texas, is currently in use on a statewide basis among the various community and technical colleges in Texas. A total of fourteen different Tex-SIS questionnaires are available for utilization by the colleges on a discretionary basis. These questionnaires, in addition to system implementation procedures, are contained within Tex-SIS Follow-up Manuals, which are being used by the colleges to conduct their surveys. These manuals were distributed statewide in August of 1976.

Since individual Tex-SIS surveys are conducted on a local basis with many of the colleges utilizing the same questionnaire, comparisons of "local" data with "state" data are facilitated. For this reason, the report formats contained within this monograph have been specifically designed to allow such comparisons to be made. Colleges are encouraged to enter their own individual local data in the appropriate locations on the data pages and then reproduce the information for local dissemination. A set of blank report format pages found toward the end of this monograph can be used to report data by categories other than those included in this document (i.e., individual program areas, special populations, etc.). A copy of the questionnaire used for the 1976-77 Nonreturning Student studies can also be found toward the end of this monograph.

A variety of mailout techniques were utilized to conduct the Nonreturning Student surveys. About half of the colleges used three mailouts with the first mailout consisting of a transmittal letter, questionnaire, and postage-paid return envelope, while the second mailout consisted of a postcard reminder only. The third mailout, in many cases, was a repeat of the technique used in the first mailout. Thirteen individual colleges were involved in the statewide composite of nonreturning student data. Both occupational/technical and university transfer/academic students were included in most of the surveys and included those students who were enrolled in the Spring, 1977 semester and did not return to their respective colleges in the Fall, 1977. After the surveys were completed, the Tex-SIS Support Services monitored, keypunched, processed, and returned (with data analysis printouts) the questionnaires to the college for local interpretation. At the appropriate time all selected studies were loaded for a "State" composite analysis, thereby producing the data included in the monograph.

A total of 2,782 Nonreturning Student questionnaires were processed by the Tex-SIS Support Services from surveys conducted during the Fall semester of 1977. The surveys included in this monograph include information on students who were enrolled in the Spring of 1977 and did not return to their respective colleges in the Fall of 1977. It should be understood that the data represents a large amount of effort provided on a volunteer basis by liaison personnel in the thirteen involved colleges. Because the data produced as a part of the Tex-SIS Follow-up System is treated in a confidential manner, the names of these individuals and their participating colleges are not provided.

The number of colleges categorized by initial population, number of responses, and response rate, can be found below:

College	Initial Population	Responses	Response Rate
1	185	80	43.2%
2	174	69	39.6%
3	1762	477	27.0%
4	119	38	31.9%
5	866	182	21.0%
6	145	60	41.3%
7	259	52	20.0%
8	864	278	32.1%
9	830	331	39.8%
10	1613	756	46.8%
11	820	247	30.1%
12	244	136	55.7%
13	200	76	38.0%

The average response rate for the 1977 Nonreturning Student surveys was 34%. Study highlights, in addition to the actual data produced, can be found on the following pages. Documents based on data generated by the Tex-SIS Follow-up System are furnished to participating institutions and other interested parties. These documents may take the form of Tex-SIS "One-Liners," "Program Booklets," "Monographs," and other special documents which may be useful. The Editorial Review Subcommittee of the Tex-SIS Follow-up Users Committee has the responsibility of making applicable decisions relating to what documents are produced, the content of these documents, dissemination procedures, and other considerations relating to these documents.

For purposes of providing assistance in using and interpreting Tex-SIS Monograph 10 "Nonreturning Student - Data Summary - 1976-77," this document has been classified as a "Category III" document. Other categories (Category I and Category II) display information of a more generalizable nature for comparison of local institutional and statewide composite information.

A Category III document is a special, limited purpose document. A Category III document is provided to the institutions in the interest of returning to institutions simple summary information. Category III documents may not be safely used for any generalization purposes.

Note: Due to rounding, the sum of the percentage tables in this document may not be 100%.
